

Dear Retina International members and supporters!

A warm welcome to the Retina International Conference (RIWC 2020) in Reykjavik, 4-6 June 2020. The program will feature over 40 of the very best of speakers from the five Nordic countries, alongside many renowned lecturers from Europe and USA.

The RIWC 2020 keynote speakers are:

Prof. Emeritus Gerald J. Chader, University of Southern California, USA.

Prof. Artur V. Cideciyan, University of Pennsylvania.

Ms. Christina Fasser President of Retina International.

Prof. Eugene de Juan, University of California, San Francisco.

Prof. Mark Humayun, University of Southern California, USA.

Prof. Bart Leroy Ghent University.

Around 20 interesting parallel sessions are planned, covering the genetics and stem cell research, clinical trials, treatments and impact on patients and the society, related to Inherited Retinal Dystrophy's (IRDs). There will be two parallel session lines, where one will be professional and the other will be a lay session with the scientists.

The Nordic Ophthalmology Congress (NOK) will be held at the same time and venue. The NOK participants will have full access to the RIWC program.

The congress will be held in Harpa, Reykjavik's spectacular new conference and concert hall, located by the harbor in downtown Reykjavik.

We hope you will find time to enjoy Reykjavik during your stay or even explore further into Iceland's beautiful nature. Early June is the most beautiful time of the year to visit Iceland!

Please note that we have extended the early registration fee until 15 March!
